ROSS Rod Floor (FIG Approved)

“This Rod Floor System offers a phenomenal amount of spring!”

Power tumbling is performed on elevated spring runways that help tumblers propel themselves higher than a basketball goal as they demonstrate speed, strength and skill while executing a series of acrobatic manoeuvres. Top-level contenders will perform explosive somersaults with multiple flips and twists.

- THIS is the FIG approved rod floor used at all United States Gymnastics Trampoline and Tumbling sanctioned events (USAGTT) and United States Tumbling and Trampoline Association sanctioned events (USTA).
- Easy to assemble, easy to replace worn/damaged parts
- Tubular fibreglass rods ensure no "lock-up" when tumbling
- Each steel frame section is 1.22m long, x 1.83m wide, x 20cm high
- Rods are covered by a layer of 1-3/8" foam backed carpet, over a layer of 2" polyethylene foam
- Used at The Olympic Games (demo - Atlanta 96)

The ROSS Tumble Tramp is the best choice for tumble training. It allows for multiple repetitions while reducing the risk of overuse injuries and decreasing stress on body parts. A great way to teach tumbling or a variety of other gymnastic and cheerleading skills!

- Each steel framework section is 10' long, 8' wide and 26" high for a stable and dependable base
- 3 legs per section instead of 2
- Top of framework covered by 15" wide pads, filled with polyethylene foam
- 7" high performance springs ensure tight tumbling surface for users of all ages and sizes
